UNITE THE RESISTANCE

Solidarity with University and college strikes

STAFF AT 61 universities are set to strike. Workers are fighting plans to change their USS defined benefit pension scheme to a defined contribution one.

It would mean no guaranteed income in retirement and will slash the value of workers' pensions by half or more.

In the Further Education colleges there are set to be strikes over pay, following a one percent pay offer from the employers—a real terms pay cut.

Most of the universities are set to strike for 14 days. These are: Thursday 22 and Friday 23 February; Monday 26—Wednesday 28 February; Monday 5—Thursday 8 March; Monday 12—Friday 16 March. Check ucu.org.uk for more info.

The further education colleges are set to strike on the 28th February and the 1st March followed by a second phase of 3 days of action within the following 28 days if management fail to make significant moves.
